1. On 13 March 1953, source learned from ☐ the Bauunion Leipzig that the planned airfield construction project at Schkeuditz was an object of 20 million Eastmarks. Herr Meissner (fnu) was the construction superintendent. Bauunion Leipzig was also charged with construction work at Oranienburg and Dessau airfields, on the barracks installations in Torgelow and industrial buildings in Ludwigsfelde.
2. On 21 March, about 80 workers were observed at Schkeuditz airfield. External work on the administrative building which was apparently entirely renovated, was completed. A high look-out post at the field was occupied by a VP ran. The VP guardhouse was provided with a new brick roof. About 40 masons constructed a 2-meter high wall along the southern border of the field.¹
